DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-15 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hanson et al., US pat. No.6,549,957.

As to claim 1, Hanson discloses a method for an email server (message processing system 15 fig.1) to reduce the unintended duplication of messages forwarded to an email recipient, comprising:

forming a first composite message comprising a first email message and computing and storing a first representative value for said first composite message (see abstract, figs.1, 2, col.7 lines 3-58).

forming, after said first composite message, a second composite message comprising a second email message and computing a second representative value (using data structure including hashblock data, for said second composite message

Art Unit: 2151

(setting up an email system to monitor the email communication, see fig.9, col.7 line 59 to col.8 line 31 and col.10 lines 19-54).

comparing said first and second representative values (checking for any recognized signature in the master signature database) and forwarding said second email message to an email recipient only if said first and second representative values do not indicate duplication (see fig.6, col.8 line 32 to col.9 line 22).

discarding at least one stored representative value based on at least one predetermined criterion (see col.9 line 23 to col.10 line 54 and col.13 lines 8-53).

As to claims 2 and 3, Hanson discloses said first and second representative values are hash values and said first composite message is formed prior to receiving said second email message (see col.10 line 21 to col.11 line 44).

As to claims 4 and 5, Hanson discloses the at least one stored representative value is discarded a predetermined time after it is created col.13 lines 8-57 and col.14 lines 12-63) and the at least one stored representative value is discarded when the list of stored representative values grows to a predetermined size (see col.15 line 31 to col.16 line 9).

Claims 6-10 are rejected for the same reasons set forth in claims 1-5 respectively.

Claims 11-15 are rejected for the same reasons set forth in claims 1-5 respectively.
